

FACULTY ANNOUNCEMENT

05 October 2012

David Tan promoted to Associate Professor

NUS Law congratulates David Tan on his promotion to Associate Professor with retroactive effect from 1 July 2012.

Assoc Prof Tan has carved a niche for himself in the fields of intellectual property & cultural studies, prominently including his work on entertainment law. His teaching and research have also produced ground-breaking work on freedom of speech jurisprudence.

Above and beyond his teaching and research, Assoc Prof Tan directs our general LL.M. programme (i.e. without specialisation). He is also heading a new project on strategic communications, working closely with the faculty's corporate communications department.
